

SCHOOL TEACHER MONOLOGUE

A first grade teacher is talking to his/her class about stranger danger. Nice, sarcastic, happy.

Alright children, everyone sit down. Mikey stop pulling Sarah's hair. Christopher... No. Please do not wipe snot on Julie. Okay. No, please do not settle down children. Today I want to tell you about three things every little boy and girl should know. These are very important things, so I want you all to sit criss-crossed and paying very close attention. Okay, first... Never ride with a stranger. This is very important so I want you all to repeat this rule with me. Never ride with a stranger. All together now. Ready?

Never ride with a stranger. Good. Why shouldn't you ride with a stranger? Julie? Very good, he might not be such a nice guy. He might be dangerous. You never know, a stranger might offer you candy... But then he may take you and put you in a box full of snakes... You just never know. Now let's say it just one more time just to make sure that you all have it down. All together now: Never ride with a stranger. Good. Very good.
